

2014 Small Grants Competition Empowering Grassroots Civil Society Organizations

September 2014

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

Eurasia Partnership Foundation is pleased to announce a request for proposals (RFP) for projects aimed at supporting participatory civic monitoring initiatives in Georgia under EPF's Engage and Monitor for Change Program. The call is specifically designed to strengthen the organizational capacity of grassroots CSOs and to increase their effective and sustained engagement in the decision-making processes at a local level, so as to address the problems of their constituencies.

BACKGROUND

Eurasia Partnership Foundation's (EPF) mission is to empower people to effect change for social justice and economic prosperity through hands-on programs, helping them to improve their communities and their own lives. EPF engages citizens in social, economic, and political developments, in order to effect substantive and sustainable positive socio-economic change at the local, regional, and national level through both operational programs and grant-making.

Since its establishment as a local organization in 2008, EPF has invested more than $16 million to contribute to its program mandates and approaches:

- Creating opportunities for civic and economic participation,
- Promoting evidence-based advocacy and decision making,
- Fostering a culture of corporate and community philanthropy,
- Supporting cross border/community cooperation, and
- Open Door grantmaking.

To contribute to the achievement of its mission, EPF is implementing the following six programs: Engage and Monitor for Change, European Integration, Youth Integration, Civic Initiative for an Independent Judiciary, Social Enterprise Development, and Open Door Grantmaking. In these efforts, EPF is supported by the European Union (EU), the Swedish International Development Agency (Sida), the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), and other public and private donors, and is a member of the Eurasia Foundation (EF) Network: eight local foundations supporting civil society that are based in Russia, Central Asia, the South Caucasus, Eastern Europe, and Washington, DC.

PROBLEM STATEMENT

The development of relatively new grassroots CSOs into significant civic actors is often delayed by their weak institutional capacity, including problems in management and governance that in turn hinder these CSOs to raise funds sufficient for their development and build sustainable connections with their constituencies. In addition, recently founded CSOs lack strategic approach to their development, lack practical experience of effective networking and lasting partnership with their peers as well as with more experienced civic actors. These decrease CSOs' participation in the local economic and political decision-making and lower communities' trust to CSOs and their activities.

COMPETITION GOAL

The goal of the call is to make recently established grassroots CSOs proactive participants in solution to communities' salient problems through the improved institutional capacity and effective interaction with communities, as well as improved networking and experience sharing with other, more experienced CSOs.

- Establishing a good practice of cooperation with other, more established CSOs in the region or in Georgia, so as to exchange information and address specific institutional capacity issues.
